Plasticsgrid and IQMS enters the German market

IQMS, the world's leading supplier of Enterprise Resource Planning software for the plastics industry and their European representative Plasticsgrid announces the opening of a local office in Germany. Located in Hamburg, the office will service accounts in Germany.

"Germany is one of the most important markets for our product and it is a must to establish regional presence for our current and coming customers ", commented IQMS Vice President Terry Cline.

EnterpriseIQ was introduced in Europe last September and has been localized to the Swedish, Benelux and UK markets. The system manages all operations affecting the manufacture and distribution of plastics parts and finished goods, including scheduling, real-time production monitoring, bills of materials, inventory, financials, warehouse and supply chain management, and quality control. The trademark of EnterpriseIQ is the complete integration of all areas of functionality, eliminating costly interfaces between third-party applications and providing for smooth implementation and ease of use.

EnterpriseIQ is currently installed in some of the largest plastics manufacturing companies in the world, including Mikron, Ten Cate Plasticum. EnterpriseIQ is now also translated to German and localized to meet the demands of the German plastics processors.

Plasticsgrid, the European sales partner for IQMS, is also stressing the importance of having a presence in Germany. "Market investigation shows that, also in the German market, there is no ERP product for plastics processors that matches the quality of EnterpriseIQ", commented Ola Gejde, Managing Director of Plasticsgrid.
