IQMS Releases Smart Page User Interface for EnterpriseIQ

Faster Access and Enhanced Capabilities Deliver Leaner Results

Paso Robles, California, December 3, 2008 – IQMS, a leader in the design and development of manufacturing Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) software, is pleased to announce the release of Smart Page for EnterpriseIQ. Smart Page provides an intuitive portal that allows users to create customizable views of all key ERP functions, report requirements, email, key performance indicators (KPIs), and more – all within one easy-to-navigate screen. Smart Page interacts seamlessly with EnterpriseIQ to deliver enhanced capabilities like fast, single-screen access to all workflows requiring approval, and unlimited user-defined short cuts to EnterpriseIQ modules. By putting the full power of the ERP system and other commonly used applications on one screen, Smart Page will speed productivity and drive leaner results.

With Smart Page Enterprise IQ, customers now have the ability to create, save and share unlimited user roles so employees from the top floor to the shop floor can quickly maximize the benefits of using this single-source system. Among other features, Smart Page provides unlimited RealTime production monitors that give instantaneous shop floor feedback from remote or local business units. Security is also enhanced through single, secured log in functionality, designed specifically for role based programs. And links to email programs, the Internet and customizable KPIs make switching between programs easy and on one screen.

“Smart Page is another example of the innovative ERP solutions IQMS is developing to help its customers stay lean, agile and competitive,” says Randy Flamm, president and founder of IQMS. “EnterpriseIQ already delivers a solid advantage in real-time visibility and control over the manufacturing process. Smart Page takes that a step further by making EnterpriseIQ
